The fellow who wrote that poem "To Hell With Spain," evidently proposes to make it hot for her.

There is a "mysterious disease" which is at large in a portion of Pennsylvania and "attacks the best calves" and it seems to get the best of them."

The question is being asked "What shall we do with the Philippines?" As there are a good many of them we might keep the best and trade the others off.

Perhaps some of those people who spend their summers in Europe will conclude to stay at home this year, or if they travel, travel at home and learn something about their own country.

Alabama papers note the number of new flour mills that are being erected in that State, and consider it a good sign, which it is. Flour mills and cotton mills go very well together.

The Spanish report that Commodore Dewey shot petroleum bombs into Manila is not credited in Washington, where it is not known that his fleet was provided with anything of that kind.

Spain might as well be making her arrangements to foot the bill of costs after this fracas is over, for she will not have any Cuba to draw from. Uncle Sam's indemnity bill will be a pretty big one.

They must have some daisy girls up in Vermont, judging by the following from a Vermont paper: "The street sprinkler has started and looks as gay as a young girl in yellow paint with black stripes on the ribs. What a freakish fancy in these girls to paint their faces yellow and their ribs black, and to go around in such a thin costume as that.

LETITIA LODGE EVENT.

An Interesting and Profitable Entertainment at the City Hall Last Night. The Programme.

The entertainment by Letitia Lodge No. 3, Daughters of Rebekah, last night, was a thoroughly enjoyable event and was attended by many friends of the noble order. Under the direction of Mrs. W. M. Hurst and other ladies of the Circle the City Hall had been prettily decorated and a supply of delicious refreshments provided. The early hours of the evening were devoted to the rendition of an interesting programme, for the success of which much credit is due Mrs. Hurst and the bright little people and others who participated.

The programme was introduced with a musical selection by Mrs. Bowen. An address of welcome was fluently delivered by Miss Willie Farrow. Miss Julia Farrow recited, "How Miss Edith Helped Things On." There was a sweetly rendered solo by Miss Mamie Batson. Also, a well rendered selection by Marsden Smith.

The closing feature of the entertainment programme was an admirable "Mother Goose Reception and Drill," in which there were almost thirty participants, all prettily and appropriately costumed. They were: Misses Mamie Batson, Atlas Humphrey, Bertha Dudley, Mable Hewett, Mamie Hurst, Cora Wiggs, Jennie Farrow, Julia Farrow, Hattie Farrow, Maggie Hurst, Mamie Taylor, Ida Taylor, Jennie Jones, Bessie Brady, Lila Holmes, Lula Orrell, Claudie Orrell, Nettie Ketchum, Ella Brady, Lottie Dudley, Fannie Hewlett, Evaline Batson, and Masters Frank Irven, Willie Strauss, Plummer Gilbert, Willie Brown, Clarence Hayes, Louis Hewlett and Ernest Grant.

At the conclusion of the programme the serving of the refreshments commenced. A creditable sum of money was realized, which will be used in the work of the Lodge.

Death of Miss Bettie McIver.

The STAR announces with sorrow the death of Miss Bettie Morris McIver, daughter of J. T. and Elizabeth McIver. She was nineteen years and three months old. The funeral will be from the residence, Seventeenth and Market streets, at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The interment will be at Oakdale.

It will doubtless be well patronized.

THE NAVAL RESERVES.

Getting Things in Ship-Shape on the Nantucket—Will Leave Sunday Probably.

Yesterday was an uneventful day on board the United States monitor Nantucket.

The reserves were kept busy pretty nearly all day getting things in ship-shape. More supplies were taken on and other preparations made for the voyage to Port Royal.

The men were ordered before Dr. C. P. Wertenbaker, of the Marine Hospital Service, for examination yesterday. He examined fifteen or twenty, all of whom passed successfully. Dr. Wertenbaker says he finds them to be a healthy lot of young fellows.

The crew was reinforced yesterday by the arrival of seven or eight members of the Southport division, who came up on the Wilmington.

The final details about the "billeting" of the different members of the crew have not yet been arranged. There are numerous places to be filled and the officers are seeking to get the right men in the right places. The undertaking is naturally one that requires some time. It is now thought that the Nantucket will pass down the river about Sunday.

New Officers Installed.

The new officers recently elected by Lincoln Grove No. 2, United Ancient Order of Druids, were installed last night by Deputy Grand Arch A. J. Marshall. Joyous festivities were attendant upon the installation ceremonies, not the least appreciated of which was a sumptuous banquet given by the new lodge officers. Their names and positions were published in last Thursday's STAR.

WILL LEAVE TO-DAY.

Wilmington Light Infantry Ordered to Report at Camp in Raleigh.

THREE NEGRO COMPANIES

Will Be Mobilized at Fort Macon Next Week as a Battalion of Infantry—A Brother of Senator Butler Appointed Major.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., May 5.—The Oxford and Wilmington companies are ordered here to-morrow. Four companies of the Second regiment can be accommodated, but the others will not be ordered here until tents and other equipments arrive.

The War Department declined to allow the State more than its quota of men embodied in the President's call for the purpose of forming a negro regiment. In consequence of this the Governor has decided to organize a battalion of negro infantry of three companies instead of a heavy battery of artillery. It will be composed of Charlotte, Raleigh and Wilmington companies. The battalion will be mobilized at Fort Macon next week. A request has been made on the War Department to have a quartermaster and commissary detailed there to prepare the camp.

The Governor appoints George E. Butler, of Sampson county, brother of Senator Butler, Major of the Third battalion of the First regiment. The entire regiment was formed to-day for the first time, and inspected. It will mustered in early in the morning.

W. L. I. Will Leave This Morning.

The Wilmington Light Infantry volunteers will leave on a special train by the Atlantic Coast Line for Raleigh at 10 o'clock this morning. They will go on a special train of two coaches and a baggage-car. About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Capt. MacRae received a telegram from Adjutant General A. D. Cowles, directing him as far as possible to hold his command in readiness to move on shortest notice, perhaps this week. Capt. MacRae wired his willingness to comply with the orders, asking for as much time as possible. At 6.10 he received another telegram from Adjutant General Cowles, telling him to move his company to-day by the Atlantic Coast Line.

The men already had orders to meet for drill at 8 o'clock. When they were assembled the following orders were read:

ARMORY W. L. I.,
WILMINGTON, N. C., May 5.
Order No. 6.

You are hereby ordered to report at this armory at 8.30 o'clock to-morrow morning May 6th with personal baggage as heretofore specified prepared to leave for Raleigh. Each man's baggage must be plainly tagged and delivered to Sergeant Hooper in the assembly room.

By order of D. MACRAE.
Captain Commanding.
D. T. CRONLY, First Sergeant.

The orders to move restored all the activity that has been wanting since the men were ordered to wait. However, almost all left the armory early last night, so as to get a good night's sleep before a day which may prove a tiresome one.

The boys appreciate thoroughly the demonstration which was accorded them Tuesday, and especially do they thank those ladies who kindly assisted in serving lunch Tuesday afternoon They also make acknowledgements for some elegant wine that Mr. Sol Bear sent, and they will not forget some fragrant cigars, sent with the compliments of Capt. W. R. Kenan; cigars and memorandum books sent by Dr. Niestlie; hand mirrors by Mr. I. Shrier; table mirrors by Mr. S. H. Fishblate; cigarettes by Mr. B. C. Moore, Mr. Wm. Ulrich, the chief clerk at the post-office, showed his good will for the men by promising to see that their mail leaves here promptly.

The company will be sure to leave this time. The STAR joins their friends in saying good-bye with the hope that every man will prove a valiant soldier and come back covered with glory.

As there have been some changes in the roster of officers and men since it was published Wednesday, it is again produced below:

HON. JAS. A. LOCKAART.

He Writes a Private Letter Announcing That He Is Not a Candidate For Congress.

The following letter to Mr. Boylin, editor of the Wadesboro Messenger-Intelligencer, will be printed in the issue of that paper for the current week:

DEAR BOYLIN—You and other good friends have advocated my candidacy for Congress by the next Democratic convention in this district. My cordial thanks are extended to partial friends for their kindness in this matter. After full reflection, I have determined on obeying a constantly entertained inclination, and thus announce that I am not a candidate for the nomination for Congress. I am duly sensible of the honor of such distinction, and I shall always cherish with deep gratitude the confidence of the Democratic party hitherto bestowed by two consecutive nominations for this office. In each of the campaigns following, I did all possible with the opportunities at my disposal, to secure the best results. I gave of time and substance such as I could command, I struck such blows as I was able to deliver, at all outside and inside enemies of the party, its organization and executive authority, no matter by what name any such called themselves. I would shudder to be reckoned a professional and chronic office-seeker; I would not consciously abuse the patience, amiability and good offices of friends and neighbors; I should esteem myself in bad plight if I should cause them to grow tired of me. I have no suspicion that either of these conditions exists; this ourse assures that they will not. Our party now needs men in its ranks worse than it needs candidates. I can now render to my party such experience, knowledge and capacity as I have, to work, talk and teach, without coming under the condemnation of suspicion that I do these things for selfish ends. I take my place in the ranks, and shall do loyal service there. Such disorder, confusion and distemper have lately arisen in our political life, that many old things must be retaught to the people. The Democratic party is the party of all the people; in its true place, it knows no classes or distinctions; it neither holds nor allows that in government, one good man is any better than another; it aggrandizes the individual, makes him strong, self-reliant and independent; intends that he shall not seek government aims or paternal munificence; it tenderly regards and would elevate the humble, and would make such, conscious of his rights and self respect; it would repress the arrogance, exactions and extortions of the powerful; it teaches that personal liberty and property rights are sacred, encourages manly thrift, and stimulates the ambition to good citizenship and the acquisition of comforts and wealth by meritorious life and conduct. It is against anarchy and agrarianism; it is against tyranny and centralized power; it stands for equal and exact justice; it has no place in it for loafers and socialists; it has no patience with laws which extend special privileges to any classes, either of persons or property, and as little patience with any such as have for their aim the striking down of any classes, either of persons or property. It can be just to the individual as to the corporation, which represents the earnings of individuals; it will not tolerate undue aggressions by either, nor anybody that would be unjust to either. It does not believe in bartering for the great trusts of public offices; it believes that a man who will barter for offices will barter the offices and the influence and power of them when he gets them; it believes that a man who will steal for you, will steal from you, and that a man who will buy you, will sell you. The times and occasion require courage and unselfish frankness to elaborate before the people the doctrines above mentioned—and others equally wholesome—and in such way and under such circumstances, that it would be evident to even the mountebank, that his charges that the advocate was selfish or a hireling, would only be received by the people as scurrility and lying.

I shall do my duty as I see it, and I cherish gratefully the past partialities of my party, and wear now the armor and arms of a private, and when it makes its grand charge I'll be there.

Cordially yours,
JAMES A. LOCKHART.

BASE BALL THIS AFTERNOON.

The First Game of the Season—Between Wilmington Teams.

The first base ball game of the season will be played this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the O. A. N. diamond between the O. A. N. and Wilmington teams, and there is every indication that there will be a good live game. The O. A. N. team will be rigged out in their new uniforms. The personnel of both teams is strong and during the past several weeks they have been practicing faithfully. Messrs. Sweeney and Taylor will pitch for the O. A. N's. The Zeller boys will be the battery for the Wilmington team.

The young men who will compose the two teams are as follows;

O. A. N. Club—Captain Stevenson, Sweeny, Taylor, Jones, Brown, Harriss, James, Slocumb and Orrell.

Wilmington Team—Schutte, Litgen, Wiggs, Farriar, Genaust, Sellers and Watson.

The game will be called promptly at 4 o'clock and Mr. Warren Johnson will be umpire. No admission fee will be charged and everybody is cordially invited to attend.

May Musical Festival.

The Southern May Musical Festival was in Knoxville Monday night, and the Tribune says of it: "The house was crowded by a representative audience, every seat being taken, and to say the concert was a success will hardly express it. The orchestra under the direction of Gustave Strube, was magnificent." The paper speaks in the highest terms of each of the soloists who took part, and says Mlle. Verlet, the prima donna of the company, sang an aria from "Traviata" and was accorded a regular ovation when she finished. For an encore she sung "Annie Laurie," and caught her hearers again."

C. F. & Y. V. RAILROAD.

U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Confirms Judge Simonton's Decree—The Road Must be Sold as a Whole.

The opinion of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad case is a lengthy document covering 19 closely printed pages. It is merely confirmatory of Judge C. H. Simonton's decree for the sale of the road as an entirety, which when it was handed down was printed in the STAR, and as it quotes at length from the same opinion it is not considered necessary to give it in full. It reviews the assignments of error made by the counsel for the "New York Committee" which contended that the road should be sold both as a whole and in division and effectually disposes of all of them.

The opinion, after showing that the court below is not compelled by the terms of the mortgage to sell the railroad by divisions, proceeds to ascertain whether or not the direction that it be sold as an entirety was, under the circumstances of this case, the proper exercise of judicial discretion, and in doing this says: "A connected railroad, one of the length, character and importance of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley, involving as it does such large sums of money to its bondholders and stockholders, and in which the people of the State to which it owes its existence are so deeply interested, should, if at all practicable, be kept together as one system and sold as an entirety. The onus is on those who insist that it should be disrupted and sold in parcels to show the necessity for it, and to make it clear to a court of equity that good conscience and fair dealings demand it. In proceedings of this character courts will, if at all practicable, regard the railroad as an entirety, will decree it to be sold as such, and will prevent its severance into parcels, even though it may be subject to partial mortgages."

According to the terms of Judge Simonton's decree, the date of the sale will be named by the master commissioners, Eugene S. Martin, Esq., of this city and Clement Manly, Esq., of Winston, but as the day will not be set until after the opinion of the Circuit Court of Appeals has been handed down to the lower court and the decree has been re-issued from that court, it will probably be some time yet before the sale will be made, and there is of course the possibility that the case will have to be argued before the Supreme Court.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.

Convictions in Cases of Illicit Distilling and Retailing Liquor Without License.

His Honor Judge Purnell convened yesterday's session of the Federal Court at 9.30 o'clock. Both the court proper and grand jury did a good day's work. Eleven true bills were returned by the grand jury, all for retailing, and eighteen cases variously disposed of by the court.

Disposition was made of cases for retailing as follows: Henry McNair, guilty, two years imprisonment and $100 fine; James Surls, plead guilty, thirty days imprisonment and $100 fine; Van Smith, guilty, judgment suspended in consideration of the fact that the prisoner has spent three months in jail; Hector Dillard, guilty, judgment suspended; Charles Dillard, guilty, judgment suspended; John Pickett, guilty, judgment suspended; Solomon Steele, guilty, judgment suspended; Green T. Parker, guilty, three months in jail and $100 fine; B. F. Maultsby, guilty, thirty days in jail and $100 fine; Murdock Malloy, judgment nisi, sci fa and capias; Isaac Moore, called and failed, nisi, sci fa and capias; Colson Strickland, guilty, judgment suspended.

There were two cases for illicit distilling. One case was against Spencer Richardson. He was found guilty and sentenced to three months in jail and $100 fine. The other was against Joe Horne, who was convicted; but sentence has not yet been pronounced.

During the day an instanter capias was issued for David Neale and subpœnas were issued for several witnesses in a case against A. C. Wingfield.

Judge Purnell dissented from the opinion of the court. His dissenting opinion will be published.

To-day's session of the court will open at 9.30 o'clock.

KITCHEN BROKEN OPEN.

Some Thief Steals Provisions and Silverware from Mr. Clemmons' Residence and Chickens from Mrs. Kelly.

Early yesterday morning some unknown party broke into the kitchen at the residence of Mr. W. J. Clemmons, at the corner of Fourth and Chesnut streets, and stole a quantity of provisions from the pantry, several silver spoons and other articles of value. The spoons had the letter "C" engraved on the handles. The value of the property stolen is between $5 and $10. There is no clue to the guilty party. A next door neighbor reported to Mr. Clemmons that a negro woman was seen in the back yard very early yesterday morning. The same woman has been seen there two or three times previous within a week.

Mrs. J. J. Kelly, who lives on another corner of Chesnut and Fourth streets, had several chickens stolen from a coop in her back yard Wednesday night. It is probable that the same thief committed both thefts.

— Mr. J. W. S. Robinson, of Delta, was here yesterday.

A PERSONAL CARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 5, 1898.

The bogus Board of ex-County Commissioners held a meeting yesterday and passed resolutions calling for bids to repair a new mortice lock which was said to have been broken May 3d inst., while the sheriff, register of deeds and janitor were at dinner.

W. P. Oldham was, of his knowledge, the only person connected with the new board in the court house that day.

If he is the one charged with having committed the offence it is absolutely false. He was not near the door referred to nor did he see or know of any who was, except Dan'l Howard. He did not remove or handle any papers in said office belonging to the old Board of County Commissioners, nor has he ever slept or "bunked" in the county court house. Mr. Galloway says he thinks he knows, and at the proper time will tell, who committed the offence. He says he thinks it was one of his own party and that it was done on his own account. He gave the cause which prompted the act, but I will not mention it because it concerns him personally. Respectfully, yours,

W. P. OLDHAM,
Clerk of Auditing Board, County Commissioners.

Only One Willing to Go.

The following from the Journal refers to the recent action of the famous Seventh Regiment, of New York, over 1,000 strong, in refusing to enter the volunteer army:

The decision of the regiment was understood to be unanimous. In Company F one private voted "yes." He explained that his father, who was a Confederate veteran, had secured from him a promise that if he ever was a member of a National Guard he would never refuse to respond to his country's call in the event of war. It was explained to this Southerner that the officers desired a unanimous vote against volunteering and he consented to change his vote.

The member of Co. F referred to above is Mr. Ed. McKoy, son of Maj. T. H. McKoy, of this city. His numerous friends here are not surprised at his course. He is not a holiday soldier, but a brave, manly fellow who knows his duty and is not afraid to perform it.

ROBESON COUNTY.

Democratic Convention—Strongly Against Fusion—Thomas A. McNeill Endorsed For Judge.

(Special Star Telegram.)

LUMBERTON, N. C., May 5.—The Democratic County Convention met here to-day for the purpose of electing delegates to the State, Congressional and Judicial Conventions, and was by far one of the largest and most enthusiastic conventions ever held in this county, Mr. Thomas McBride presiding, with Messrs. J. R. Whichard, of the Robesonian, and Frank Gough as secretaries.

It was noticeable that quite a number were present who have heretofore affiliated with the Republicans and Populists, and took marked interest in all the proceedings. Thomas A. McNeill was unanimously endorsed for Judge of this judicial district. The Croatans were in evidence, and say they will be with the Democrats on election day. There was no recommendation made for Congressman. Geo. B. McLeod was elected chairman of the executive committee of Robeson county. The sentiment of the convention was strongly against fusion.

Hit on the Head.

Ed. Austin, a small colored boy, while sitting at Princess street dock yesterday at 1.20 P. M., was struck on the head with a piece of gas pipe by Willie Lavender, another colored boy slightly larger. The blood spurted from the wound to the distance of over a foot. The wounded boy says that he hadn't done anything to the other boy. No arrest was made.

DIED.

MCIVER—On Thursday, May 5th, at the residence of her parents, corner of 17th and Market streets, BETTIE MORRIS, daughter of J. T. and Elizabeth McIver, aged 19 years and 3 months.

Funeral from residence this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Interment at Oakdale. Friends and acquaintances invited to attend.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 6, 1898

NO UNNECESSARY SACRIFICE.

The gentlemen who are now directing the movements of our army and navy are proceeding with due caution and deliberation, and while they intend to take Cuba without unnecessary delay, and perhaps Porto Rico to finish up the work begun by Commodore Dewey at Manila, they do not intend to sacrifice any more lives than necessary in doing it. They have taken into consideration the dangers the army would have to confront if landed in large numbers and detained for any length of time in the unhealthful coast region where the Spanish armies are located, and they will not subject our soldiers to these dangers any more than necessary. At present they are keeping a pretty sharp lookout for that much talked of Spanish fleet which has sailed from St. Vincent, and is said to be heading for Porto Rico, with the intention of crossing into Cuban waters, although it is not known with any degree of certainty in what direction it is moving, whether to or from Porto Rico. Possibly it may go to anchor at Porto Rico, and there await reinforcements, as it is given out that the policy of the naval directors in Spain is to unite their naval forces and make one supreme effort to crush the American squadron in Cuban waters.

While they are watching the movements of the Spaniards and have determined if necessary to go beyond Porto Rico to meet their fleet and give it the battle the Spaniards profess to be eager for, the blockade of Cuban ports is kept up and every day it is prolonged makes the Spanish less able to maintain a long defence, for it reduces their supply of provisions and cuts them off from further supplies of ammunition, so that it is only a question of time when Havana and other blockaded cities, would be forced to capitulate, if not even one regiment of our soldiers was landed on the island. Enough will be landed at convenient points to carry to Generals Garcia and Gomez the arms, ammunition and artillery they may desire, and thus enable them to begin the aggressive march on Havana, where they will be met and joined by as many of our troops as it may be deemed necessary or advisable to land upon the island. For this purpose several regiments have been mobilized in the gulf cities where they can be speedily embarked and run across to Cuba. It may take some time to effect the junction with the Cuban armies and then the combined movement on Havana will begin.

With our fleet in front of Havana and a well organized and well equipped force behind it, the Spanish army of occupation will be between two fires, and it would be utterly impossible for Blanco, however brave he or his army may be, to hold out long. The guns of Morro Castle would be useless against the land army in the rear of the city, and but little use against the fleet, which could keep out of harm's way even if the Spanish gunners were better marksmen than they are. The Spaniards seem to be placing much reliance on the mines they are reported to have planted in the harbor, but there will be no occasion for our ships to enter the harbor to silence the forts and have the city at their mercy. The campaign planners in Washington who have studied the ground and the situation and are familiar with the conditions seem to have come to the conclusion that this can be done and the city captured without the employment of a large army or the sacrifice of many lives.

In Washington they doubtless have pretty correct information as to the strength and efficiency of the Cuban armies, but the public has but little accurate information on this subject. In as much as the policy now seems to be to depend largely on these armies to co-operate with the fleet and "carry the war into Africa," the following (written before the war) from an Englishman who is acting as special correspondent of the London Chronicle will be both interesting and instructive:

"Here, east of the trocha (in Puerto Principe and Santiago de Cuba), free Cuba is a fact. There are 287,000 inhabitants obeying laws of the insurgent government and living as in times of peace. The Spaniards hold the coast, and General Garcia with his army, the only Cuban force deserving that name, control the interior. I have spent some days in this camp. He has about 12,000 men well armed, divided into three army corps, consisting of sixteen battalions of infantry in all, with cavalry, artillery and engineers attached. The Camaguey and Agremonte Regiments of cavalry are the crack corps, recruited mainly from the sons of farmers and at least four battlions of infantry are negroes from the coffee estates. The artillery, seventeen guns in all, is officered and manned by Americans, while the Sanitary Department consists of students and professors from the Havana Medical College, who left almost en masse for the field when the war started.

"Except with General Gomez and his 2,000 men, discipline is very slack in the western provinces, the general rule being every man for himself when twelve or fifteen thousand soldiers suddenly march out from the cities. Here, on the contrary, there is the strictest discipline, which alone has kept so strong a force together, and enabled Garcia to capture the fortified cities of Baire, Guimaro, Victoria Las Tunas and Guisa. There are 800 Spanish deserters with his force, chiefly soldiers taken in these cities, who elected to stay with their captors rather than to return to starvation and ill-treated when the garrisons were liberated.

"All the officers and men captured in Guisa are held as prisoners of war. Garcia returned the prisoners of Las Tunas to General Luque on condition that they should be sent home to Spain. In one week they were all rearmed and fighting again. Guisa capitulated a few weeks after, and the garrison is held until General Blanco or the Minister of War in Spain promise in writing that the men will not again take up arms against Cuba. I talked with several of these prisoners, including the second officer in command. They are well treated, and have full liberty, but escape through the Cuban lines and outposts is impossible. They are suffering from the deadly Cuban fever, and begged me to make their case public, that some one in Spain would see Garcia's simple terms fulfilled and they be allowed to return home.

"In case of a war between the United States and Spain the waiting policy of the Cubans will be immediately altered. While the interior garrisons must necessarily be withdrawn for coast protection, General Gomez can seize the railroads, and Garcia, moving west, will break through Weyler's trocha, and in short time have his force transported by train to Havana. This could be done now, but the Cubans have not the men and ammunition to sustain such advantages when gained against the greatly superior forces of the Spaniards. Given the American navy to operate on the coast and blockade the ports, the insurgents will prove a terrible menace to Spain on land. Havana city is weak on the land side, and Garcia's dynamite guns would play sad havoc from the wooded hills surrounding its outskirts, besides cutting off the little food supply raised now in its immediate vicinity. Spain's navy might prove a very tough nut for Yankees to crack if they can get coal enough shipped across in time, but as far as this island is concerned Spain would assuredly be forced to evacuate."

These are the men who have, unaided, not only held the Spaniards confined to their fortified towns, but won control of most of the island and governed it. If they could, unaided, have done this and kept the Spanish armies practically on the defensive, why should it take long with these armies efficiently equipped, with American allies on horse and on foot, and an American fleet in front to capture the last refuge of the Spaniards, and furl the Spanish flag on Cuban soil forever?

THE RIGHT RING.

If there ever was anything in the talk of fusion between the Democratic party of this State and that wing of the Populist party led by Marion Butler it has been so completely drowned out by the negative responses that it is no longer seriously considered by any one. There is no disposition in any part of the State to thus handicap the party, while at the same time the door stands open to all patriotic voters who believe in the white metal and in white government to come in and share in the honor of redeeming the State from misrule, and re-establishing white supremacy.

The Democracy of Yancey county, which met in convention last Saturday, voiced the sentiments of the Democracy of the State, in the following resolution, which passed by a unanimous vote:

"Resolved, That we, the Democrats of Yancey county in convention assembled, declare that we are favorable to the co-operation of the people in North Carolina who favor white supremacy and white metal, and we are willing to work for principle, but we are everlastingly opposed to fusion for spoils."

This means that the Democracy of that county extends a welcome to every loyal son of the State who desires to aid in the work of the State's redemption and in the establishment of the principles of the Democratic party as declared in the Democratic national platform, but is opposed to any entangling alliances, or handicapping agreements for the spoils of office. The honest man who wishes to co-operate for the public good can come in; the man who wishes to co-operate—to fuse—for his own benefit, to secure some office that he seeks is not wanted and need not apply.

MINOR MENTION.

The expected has happened in Spain, and the trouble has begun which may end in a revolution. It is beginning, as nearly all the revolutions in Europe do, by the outbreaks of the mob, and is led, as frequently in other countries, by women. The immediate cause is the increase in the cost of food, as the result of increased taxes on food to raise money for war purposes. The cause behind this which precipitated the recent outbreaks was the disaster at Manila, the destruction of the Spanish squadron, and the loss of so many lives. The people have lost confidence in those who speak for the government, and in their ability to successfully carry Spain through this conflict. Their disappointment has naturally filled them with rage, which is intensified by the trials to which they are subjected, as the result of what they rightly believe to be bungling mismanagement of affairs and treacherous deception of the people. As thousands of Spaniards view it now, and correctly view it, the Spanish army and navy and Spain's best interests are being sacrificed to preserve the crown for that boy King, born of a foreign mother, and therefore only half Spaniard, if so much, for there is some doubt about the nationality of his father, on the paternal side. The Government, with the aid of other powers, may succeed in doing this, but it can not succeed in rallying the Spanish people, who are now in revolt, to its support in a further prosecution of this blundering and criminal war, in which both treasure and life are being wasted, with defeat inevitable.

* * *

If provisions are as scarce as they are reported to be in Havana, with the commonest kind of beef fifty cents a pound and other things in proportion, and the port so effectually guarded by our cruisers that even the little fishing smacks can't get in, what will the condition of that town be when the insurgent armies, acting in co-operation with the troops landed from this country, close in on it and cut off supplies from the interior? Then the cooped up Spaniards and people of that city will begin to realize the horrid condition of the unfortunate reconcentrados. Of course Gen. Blanco will deny the scarcity of food and assert that he has a "surplus," but this will be only another illustration of the surplus bluster and mendacity of Spanish commanders when talking for effect. We know the fact that ever since the war began, if not before it, Havana was largely dependent for her food supplies on imports from this and other countries, and that even before the blockade was established prices had increased much. The rioting going on in Spain now may be looked for very soon in Havana.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— John M. Allen may as well put aside his Senatorial ambition. He has so thoroughly convinced the country of his efficiency on the floor of the House that everybody is in favor of keeping him there—Washington Post, Ind,

— Brazil, the newest republic of America, is demonstrating her sympathy with the United States, the great republic of the north. She is not only granting our Nicheroy a harbor, but within a few days has sold us a large number of Whithead torpedoes, which will come in mighty handy at this time.—Savannah News, Dem.

— Major Giard, U. S. A., just home from the International Hygienic Congress held in Madrid, reports that "the body of the Spanish people do not seem to have the slightest idea of the enormous strength and war resources of the United States." They are wiser today; and not only the Spanish, but the Europeans generally, will gain wisdom from the fight at Manila.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

— Hand in hand the army and navy will move forward to the accomplishment of the next important step, the withdrawal of the Spanish flag from Cuba. In the meantime Porto Rico will be wrested from Spanish Sovereignty, that it may not remain a menace to future quiet in Cuba. There can be no peace with Spain until over Porto Rico the flag of the United States is floating, and the simultaneous destruction of the Spanish fleet in the Atlantic is a consummation most devoutly to be wished. There is much yet to do, and it should be done without delay.—Washington Post, Ind,

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Jacksonville Times: Jasper Bishop, who was engaged at the Parmele-Eccleston commissary at this place a few years ago as book-keeper, died at his home in Edenton last week.

— Washington Progress: The farmers tell us that the rain last week made the season just right for setting out tobacco plants. The acreage will be more than double in this county this year over any previous year, the cotton acreage being somewhat reduced.

— Raleigh News and Observer: News comes from Newport News, Va., that R. G. Lane, a resident of Newbern, who has been ill at Newport News for some weeks, Monday night jumped from a second-story window while delirous and was paralyzed. He is expected to die.

— Salisbury Truth: I. Littman's cordage mills here are kept busy night and day, and it is possible he may increase the mill's capacity if the orders for his excellent goods continue to increase. —— James Basinger, whose jaw-bone was recently broken by a would-be dentist, of the county, is now at a hospital in Baltimore, and has had an operation performed which deprived him of his jaw-bone.

— Chatham Record: We much regret to hear of the death of Mr. E. J. Bell at his home in Hernando, Mississipi. He was born and reared in this county, but removed to Mississippi many years ago. —— The Populist primary at Pittsboro, on last Saturday, can hardly be called "a large and enthusiastic outpouring of the people," for it was composed of only three office-holders.

— Raleigh Post: Mr. J. Wiley Jones, Deputy Collector, together with Deputy Marshals McCullock and Shelburn Ledbetter, and two others captured and destroyed an 80-gallon blockade still Wednesday about one o'clock, three miles from Selma. The still was destroyed and something like 800 gallons of beer was emptied. The name of the owners of the still was not discovered.

— Greensboro Record: Mr. Sam'l Ferabee, one of Winston's oldest and best citizens, committed suicide at his home this (Wednesday) morning by shooting himself in the forehead with a pistol. The ball lodged just to the left of the back part of the head. The cause of the sad act was grief over financial matters. His home place is mortgaged for over $3,000, and Mr. Ferabee, being unable to pay the interest, the property is advertised to be sold.

— Laurinburg Exchange: Three quarters of an hour after Cattie Smith, a Croatan woman, left her house, on Mr. McKinnon's place near town, Monday afternoon for work in the field close by, the building was discovered to be on fire. Although the greatest possible haste was made to reach the building and rescue the three children left there by the mother, nothing could be done. Three innocent prattling children perished in that dreadful flame. None of them were old enough to look for self. How it happened will never be known.

CASES OF BAD LUCK.

TRIFLING HITCHES WHICH HAVE COST A GREAT DEAL OF MONEY

Little Accidents, Generally Unavoidable, That Sometimes Prove Deciding Factors In Transactions of Considerable Importance.

A good many of the important events of this life are governed by little things. Many fortunes have resulted from trifles. On the other hand, thousands have been lost.

Not many days ago a furniture van broke down on one of the lines of an important tramway system. Within five minutes 35 trams were drawn up, waiting till the line was cleared. Lifting jacks were procured, and in three-quarters of an hour the obstruction was removed, yet that slight delay cost the tramway company over £70. It had disorganised the whole system. The trams failed to put in an appearance at the usual stopping places at the appointed times, and throughout the length of the lines waiting passengers traveled to their destinations by other conveyances.

There is perhaps no such costly trifle as an engineering hitch. Not long since a well known firm delivered a torpedo destroyer to the naval authorities. She was in every respect a perfect boat, the result of masterly designing and splendid workmanship, yet at the very outset of her steam trials she met with a mishap which necessitated her return to the contractors for repair. This hitch cost the firm £600 and was found to have been brought about by a careless workman thoughtlessly omitting to screw a steam cock tightly and fit it with a washer.

Another curious instance resulted in a clear loss of £250,000 to the unhappy victim. He was the holder of a large quantity of South African stock, bought at a low price during a slump. On suddenly receiving the tip that it was likely to boom immediately, he settled a limit at which to sell, and when the price had reached this figure wired his broker to sell out immediately. He left his office with jaunty step. He had netted a fortune in one coup. A few hours later the stock fell just as suddenly as it had risen, and to a figure considerably below that he had originally paid for it. Judge, then, of his dismay when his stockbrokers' clerk drove to his house and asked for a confirmation of a telegram they had just had, which appeared to have been delayed in transmission. It was his message authorizing them to sell, and as the stock was at such a low figure they were anxious to consult him before moving in the matter. The unfortunate investor was dumfounded at the lost opportunity, which on inquiry proved to have resulted from an accident to the telegraph boy. He had been knocked down and stunned by a cab and conveyed to a hospital. His message had been sent out again as soon as possible, but the delay, slight as it was, had lost one man a huge fortune.

The man who suffers mostly by trifling hitches is the inventor. Innumerable fortunes have been lost by five minute delays in getting out protections during which times others have stepped in with similar ideas and annexed the reward of their promptness. A curious and somewhat pathetic instance in connection with an invention happened to an engineer who had spent some years in perfecting a hydraulic railway brake. The idea was in every way perfect, and in conjunction with his son he had constructed models and partially drawn up patent specifications. To the latter, however, he had not confided a certain small mechanical detail—the very one which had cost him so much labor to work out successfully—his idea being that his son should endeavor to overcome the difficulty himself till the patent was entered, when he was to learn the secret of the mechanism.

The very day before the specifications were completed the father dropped dead of heart disease through excitement, and when, later, his son came to examine the drawings he found the detail he wished to know had not been included. In spite of endless labor and consultation with brother engineers the difficulty, trifling as it seemed, was never overcome, and by this little hitch in the apparatus it is estimated that he lost very nearly £750,000.

Some years ago a popular favorite lost the Derby, to the great surprise of its owner and all who had followed its previous doings. It was a neck and neck race till within 50 yards of the post, when the favorite shot out and looked like romping home. Suddenly it checked its pace for the fraction of a moment and was beaten. Very few knew the cause, curious though it was. A puff of wind caught the jockey's cap and instinctively he raised his hand to catch it. In doing so he struck his eye with the end of his whip and jerked backward. The action threw the horse out of its stride, and, although the whole incident was momentary, it resulted in a lost Derby and thousands of pounds besides.

A screw loose in an engine may result in great loss to a railway or steamship company. Should a lawyer neglect a little of evidence in an otherwise carefully elaborated case, it may go against him. In fact, half the bad luck in life is directly attributable to the effects of hitches, trifling though they may appear.—Pearson's Weekly.

MUZZLED DUCKS.

Not Because They Might Bite, but to Silence Their Quacking.

A baggage man on the Santa Fe who runs into Kansas City from out in the western part of Kansas has lost lots of sleep. It is doubtful if he can ever catch up with it. He leaves Hutchinson at night and reaches Kansas City in the morning. Nearly every night he brings in his car two or three coops of live domestic ducks. During the night, when he has no baggage to deliver at small stations, it has been his habit and privilege to lie down on an improvised couch and doze. With the advent of the ducks the dozing stopped. The almost constant quacking of the ducks, who could not understand their strange environment, would not permit of sleep.

For many nights as he lay awake he planned relief. He thought of strangling the ducks or chloroforming them. But neither expedient seemed good. One night a bright idea came to him. After he had put it into execution the ducks were silent.

The next night he had two coops of unusually vociferous ducks. As soon as it came time for sleep he wrenched a slat from one of the coops, reached in and pulled out a duck. From his pocket he took a small rubber band, which he slipped over the duck's bill just back of the nostrils. The duck tried to quack, but the rubber band, while it stretched a little, would not permit the duck to open its bill far enough to use its tongue. Only a murmur came from it. One by one the ducks were muzzled, and the baggage man rested comfortably.

The commission men were surprised next morning when they received a lot of ducks with rubber bands around their bills, and when the bands were removed the shouts of protest from the ducks were deafening.—Kansas City Star.

The Bicycle Crowds Out the Accordion.

A decline in the sale of accordions and some other musical instruments in this country is attributed to the introduction of the bicycle. It is said that persons who would otherwise have bought an accordion or some such instrument have bought instead a bicycle, even if they have had to do it on installments. To the same cause is attributed a decline in the sale of sheet music. Teachers accustomed to buy for their pupils buy now less than they did, the pupils devoting less time to the piano and more to the bicycle.—New York Sun.

Prussian Streets.

The German emperor as king of Prussia has the sole right to name streets, and he has just refused his consent to the proposal to call two streets after the names of Dr. Bertram and Dr. Langerhaus, two popular members of the municipal council. His majesty disapproves of such a course during the lifetime of the godfathers. This apparently refers to men of official standing only, whose political opinions might change after the streets had been named, for the Mommsenstrasse in Charlottenburg was recently passed with approval. Some new German streets have a tendency to long names. "Prince August von Wurtembergstrasse" is today a name and nothing more. The houses have still to be built.

OLD ENGLISH LAWS.

The Unlimited Powers Which a Father Exercised Over His Offspring.

In England less than 100 years ago the husband had power to choose his wife's associates, to separate her from her relatives, to restrain her religious and personal freedom, and if the need could be shown even to chastise her moderately, as though she were a child. What constituted sufficient cause for corporal punishment was left for the husband to prove and the court to decide, but so universally was the mastery of a man over his wife's body recognized that a trial for wife beating was almost unheard of.

Under these old laws of England the father had power to dispose of his offspring, by deed or legacy, until they were 21 years of age, and the testamentary guardian's right over the children superseded that of the mother, who had absolutely no legal control over them and was entitled to nothing from them save their reverence and respect. She had no right even to their services, except in the case of the mother of an illegitimate child, who was entitled to its control and custody. Upon marriage the husband became entitled to the wife's goods and chattels, to the rentals and profits of her lands, to her earnings and to the custody of her person. In return he was bound only to supply her with shelter, food, clothing and medicine, which he could do out of her personal earnings, or out of the profits of her properties, should she be an heiress. If a father died intestate, his personal belongings were divided equally between his sons and daughters, but in the case of real property a son, though he be younger than all his sisters, was the sole heir. In England less than a century ago it was not unusual for a man to sell his wife into servitude.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Keeping Fish Alive.

Some time ago I had the pleasure of visiting Flensburg, a seaport town on the east coast of Sleswick-Holstein, and was much struck with the system I there observed of bringing to port fish which was intended for immediate consumption.

Instead of packing the fish in the hold of the vessel the fishermen use flat, oblong boxes drilled with holes to allow free access of water, and into these the live fish are placed as soon as caught and are towed under water.

By this means the fish are kept alive until the harbor is reached, and they are then taken out of the boxes and sold alive on the quay, so that there can be no question as to their absolute freshness.—Strand Magazine.

QUEER OLD NATURE.

"Why is it," asked a wondering child
(Sweet, simple little thing),
"That the foolish trees puts on its clothes
When the sun shines in the spring.
And then, when chilly autumn comes
And the winds of winter blow,
Why does it stand out there, all bare,
In the frost and sleet and snow?"

"Wise nature has arranged it thus,"
I told the little one,
"The rustling leaves can only live
Beneath a smiling sun;
The tree that in the summer time
Makes shady bowers for you
Must have its rest, therefore it stands
Asleep the winter through."

She sat in silence for awhile
And gazed far into space,
And lines of thought and trouble came
To mar her childish face,
And so, at last, she turned and said:
"I'm sorry for the tree,
And glad that nature wasn't left
To fix things up for me!"
—S. E. Kiser in Cleveland Leader.

SHE MISSED IT.

Because What the Congressman Said Did Not Apply to Her.

"I know what I am talking about," remarked a member of congress, "when I say that a congressman has trouble of his own. It's a fine thing to be a statesman and show up in the national parade of greatness at the capital, but there's a good deal more to it than that. And one of the things that is hardest to bear is what they say about us. Why, a lady can't come up here and ask to see a member that there aren't a half dozen people to wink and shake the head and a lot more of the same to make him wish all the women were in hades. Of course there is some ground among us for remarks, just as there is among preachers and doctors and hod carriers and everybody else human, and I know a woman or two who find their chief delight in trying to involve congressmen and other officials in any kind of a flirtation that comes handy. They are pretty and persuasive, and before a man knows what he is about he is down in the senate restaurant paying for a lunch and listening to some kind of a tale of woe.

"But they miss it now and then, and I am glad to note an instance. A member from a northern state had been invited to call at the lady's hotel the next day, and she had asked him to let her know if he could come. He wrote, saying among other things, 'Tomorrow, madam, I hope to see the loveliest woman in the whole world.' Naturally she was pleased and told all the people around the hotel about it. The next day he did not appear, and the next she saw him at the capitol and asked him what he meant by treating her so.

"'What did I do?' he asked innocently.

"'You said you were coming to see me,' she said, blushing at the remembrance of his words.

"'I think not.'

"'Indeed you did,' she insisted. 'You said you would see the loveliest woman in the world,' and she blushed again.

"'Oh, I beg your pardon,' he said, smiling. 'I meant my wife. She just arrived yesterday.'"—Washington Star.

THE STEAMER'S CHIMNEY.

Some Details of Interest Regarding Its Construction and Use.

The stroller along the wharfs who should see rising from the smokestack of a big steamer a small and at the start perfectly defined column of smoke which seemed to come from a small smokepipe within the big one might wonder if the great smokestack was filled with smaller stacks, one for each boiler. As a matter of fact it is not so filled, but there is within it a smaller smoke pipe called the donkey stack, which is the chimney for the boiler of the donkey engine, which is used when the vessel is in port in hoisting cargo in and out. It is from this pipe that the small column of smoke is seen to issue.

The donkey stack is placed sometimes against the forward inner side of the big stack, sometimes against the after inner side. It may be a complete pipe, or it may be formed of iron in the shape of half a pipe, with flanges riveted to the main pipe.

If a single one of the large boilers were used, as it might be when the ship is in port, it might be connected with the donkey stack, but in their regular and common arrangement and use the uptakes of all these boilers run into the great chimney, whose whole interior is open, except for the braces running across it to strengthen and support it.

The chimneys of all large steamships, however, and of many other steam vessels as well are built double, with an inner and an outer shell, with a space between varying according to the size of the vessel. It may be from five to ten inches. The primary purpose of this chamber around the smokestack is to afford ventilation for the engine room and the stokehole. In at least one modern passenger ship ventilating pipes from the passenger quarters have been carried to these chambers. Incidentally the space between the shells helps to keep the stack sightly, for thus constructed the chimney is cooler on the outside than it would otherwise be, and so it holds paint the better.—New York Sun.

AMMONIA SAVED HIM.

A PENNSYLVANIA DOCTOR'S EXPERIENCE WITH WOLVES.

Lost In a Wilderness, He Had to Abandon His Horse and For Forty-eight Hours Carried on a Contest With His Life as the Stake.

The following is a true wolf story written from data furnished by Dr. Thornton of Lewisburg, Pa., whose father figures as the hero:

"About the year 1845 wolves were abundant in Tomhickon valley, between Catawissa and Hazleton. When the Catawissa railroad, a part of the Philadelphia and Reading, was being built, Dr. Thomas A. H. Thornton, a practicing physician, one cold autumn night was called out of bed to visit a patient about 20 miles from his home. At that time there were no regular roads as we now have. In their place the traveler used narrow paths or trails. Dr. Thornton in his anxiety to reach the bedside of the sufferer attempted to make a short cut. He lost his way and for a week wandered through the wilderness and, having no gun, was obliged to subsist on roots and herbs. The doctor was on horseback and after wandering aimlessly about the pathless forests for four or five days got into a large swamp, where the horse stepped into a quagmire, from which his owner was unable to extricate him, and the animal had to be abandoned, imbedded as he was almost to his belly in the soft and boggy bed. The doctor removed the saddle bags containing his supply of medicine, etc., threw them over his shoulders and started off.

"Several hours after the doctor got out of the swamp where he had abandoned his horse he was horrified to see that he was being followed by a band of five or six wolves. At first they kept at a respectful distance when stones were thrown at them, but finally, as if they appreciated the helpless condition of their intended victim, and as darkness came on, the hungry, bloodthirsty band became bolder and bolder. They circled around the terrified and jaded man and, closing in, started to attack him on all sides. One more vicious and impulsive than the others made a spring at the doctor's throat, but a well directed blow from a club temporarily disabled the animal and caused his ravenous companions to discontinue at that time their premeditated and combined attack.

"The doctor, by this thrilling episode and the frightened condition of the wolves, succeeded in going perhaps a mile unmolested when, to his great horror, he found the whole pack, led by the vicious brute he believed he had maimed with his club, hot on his trail. The stunning blow administered to the leader of the howling band seemed to have only intensified the brute's courage and thirst for blood. The man, weakened by long exposure and loss of food, realized that he would soon be torn to pieces if he did not adopt some new means of defense.

"Fortunately, as the animals began closing around him for another onslaught, he reached a high rock and mounted on its top, where a giant tree served to protect him from falling backward. He reached this eminence in time to provide himself with some stones and two or three good clubs before his pursuers started to attack him. He stood back to the tree, and as the animals attempted to come up he drove them back with his primitive weapons. A large stone hurled with great force and accuracy broke the head of one of the assailants, and this gave the doctor a breathing spell.

"The man, however, realized that he must soon quit his refuge, and, remembering that he had in his saddlebags a large bottle full of ammonia, he determined to employ it as a final resort to save his life. He quickly removed one of his green baize leggings, tied it securely to a stick, and after saturating the legging with ammonia he boldly started down the rocky promontory toward the wolves. The cunning animals, apparently aware that he could be more easily overpowered on level ground, separated, slunk off and permitted him to proceed several hundred yards before they renewed the pursuit. They did not, however, allow much time to elapse before they took the trail of the man who had thus far so successfully baffled their powers.

"The doctor stood still and waited until one of the brutes rushed within an arm's length, when he struck him in the face with the cloth saturated with ammonia. This reception was a most novel and unique one for the wolf, who ran off howling with pain. Two more of the band were slapped across the mouths with the saturated baize, and they also left. After this experience the wolves followed the doctor till daylight next morning, when they gave up the chase, which they had continued for 48 hours and which unquestionably would have resulted in a most horrible death if it had not been for the contents of the ammonia bottle.

"Dr. Thornton succeeded in finding a shanty occupied by the men constructing the Catawissa railroad, where he was carefully cared for, and in the course of four or five days was taken to his home, where he was ill for fully a month."—Philadelphia Record.

The English Walnut.

Possibly few trees in the old world are more profitable than the English walnut, which thrives in England and all over the northern part of the continent of Europe. The wood is especially used for gun stocks and for many articles of furniture and is found profitable from trees of 10 years of age and upward. There is always a good demand for the nuts, so that there are two distinct lines of profit—by the timber and by the fruit. In our country they thrive in any portion of the eastern states, although as they progress northwardly the tips of the last year's shoots are destroyed by winter. The living portions push out again, however, and generally bear as abundantly as before.

In the vicinity of Philadelphia there are numerous trees, planted by the early German settlers, which bear every year. Single or isolated trees sometimes fail to bear fruit on account of the pollen bearing flower maturing and scattering pollen before the nut bearing flower is in condition to receive it, and for this reason crops are more assured when a number of trees are planted together. In this way some of the pollen bearing catkins are conditioned so as to be in bloom before the time that the nut bearing flowers make their appearance.—Meehan's Monthly.

May—What—frowning on your wedding day?

Fay—I'm in a quandary. If I go to the altar smiling people will say I'm simply crazy to get Charlie and if I look solemn they'll say I already regret the step. What shall I do?—Philadelphia Record.

A Trade Secret.

"Oh, Mr. Scannerton," she exclaimed effusively, "I have been waiting to see you! I wanted to tell you how much I appreciate that poem you had in the latest issue of The Cerebrum Magazine."

"You mean the one that begins:

"Through the turgid depths we plod and plow
And clamber on, we know not how,
To find the goals that promised rest
But weary starting points at best."

"Yes," she answered, with dreamy, downcast eyes. "I like that. And it gets better as you go on. It gets very much better. There were parts of it that I could hardly understand at all."

"Oh, you flatter me!"

"No, indeed. You ought to do more things like that. You ought to write in a more dignified measure and be profound, you know. I like that so much better than these little things that sound as if they were done offhand. Yet I know there must be a great temptation to do that kind of work."

"There is," was the answer. "I very narrowly escaped making this one sound so."

"Tell me how."

"I had to send the thing away in a hurry. I didn't have time to make it sound offhand."—Washington Star.

The simplest public railroad now operated is thought to be one between Atami and Odawara, in Japan. It is a narrow gauge road and is run by man power. The cars have seats for four persons each, who sit back to back. A train consists of two or three cars and is drawn up hill by half a dozen coolies.

Whooping Cough.

I had a little boy who was nearly dead from an attack of whooping cough. My neighbors recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did not think that any medicine would help him, but after giving him a few doses of that remedy I noticed an improvement, and one bottle cured him entirely. It is the best cough medicine I ever had in the house.—J. L. MOORE, South Burgettstown, Pa. For sale by R. R. BELLAMY, Druggist. †

TARBORO, N. C., NOV. 3, 1897.

H. E. THOMPSON, Prop. Jackson Springs, West End, N. C.:

MY DEAR SIR—Your letter of 31st ult. received. In reply I take pleasure in saying that I spent two weeks at Jackson Springs in August of the present year. I was very feeble when I arrived there, suffering from Dyspepsia, and was not able to go from the hotel to the Spring, but after two weeks at the Springs I received beneficial effects from the curative power of its waters, and verily believe that these waters, springing out of the deep sand section of Moore County saved my life, or at least prolonged it to this day.

I have no hesitation in saying that I believe that the Jackson Springs Watar is a specific for Dyspepsia, and the best water on earth for this one universal complaint of mankind. You may use this letter as you may think is best for the benefit of mankind. Yours, Respectfully,

THOMAS H. SUTTON.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 6, 1898

SAMPSON'S PLAN OF ATTACK.

Theory Upon Which Naval Strategists are Working—The First Move to Bombard Porto Rico.

Special from Miami, Fla., to N. Y. Journal, May 4.

The divided North Atlantic squadron, the swiftest and heaviest part of it under Admiral Sampson, has sailed for sea, presumably for battle. No one knows except the Administration at Washington what Admiral Sampson's orders are or where his fleet has gone, but it is believed that a naval engagement of far greater magnitude than any recorded in modern history is imminent.

It will probably occur in Southern waters within a few days. The naval strategists at Washington have planned for it, and the sailing of the fleet from Key West to-day was, it is thought, the first move. The Spanish fleet from Cape Verde is coming across the Atlantic, and its base of operations is likely to be at Porto Rico.

The enemy will cruise to the east of Porto Rico and north of Pernambuco, hoping to intercept the Oregon and Marietta and dispose of them before engaging the fleet at Havana. This they believe would inspire their men and demoralize Admiral Sampson's crew.

This is the theory upon which the naval strategists are working. The most formidable and most powerful fleet that can be mustered from the vessels of the North Atlantic squadron has sailed, it is generally thought, to attack the Spanish warships. The censor at Key West suppressed all news. He would not even allow the news of the arrival of Admiral Sampson's ship at Key West to be sent out. The Journal's dispatch boat, therefore, made for Miami and filed the news from there. It is certain that a great naval move is pending, some swift and terrible blow on Spain.

To Bombard Porto Rico.

The best-informed naval officers think the fleet has gone to Porto Rico to bombard and capture it. Then with a guard at Havana and a guard at Porto Rico, Spain's fleet sailing westward would be at our mercy. Her warships will be battered by the journey across the Atlantic, her coal supply will be running short and she will be left without refuge and would be forced to fight in open sea. Admiral Sampson's ships are loaded with coal, provisions and ammunition. They are ready to strike, and strike hard.

Washington's great secrecy is maintained here regarding Admiral Sampson's squadron which left Key West this morning. Navy officials pretend to know nothing about its movements. Regarding the story sent from Lisbon that the Spanish fleet had returned to Cadiz, this is believed to be either a false report, intended to mislead the United States, or else to refer to that section of the fleet which sailed for home from Cape Verde, when the most formidable part of it started westward.

Spain's Other Fleet.

If the Spanish fleet now coming in this direction is destroyed Spain will still have a fair-sized fleet at home ready to defend her shores in case of invasion. It is safe to say that Spain will never let it venture out of sight.

I saw a prominent naval officer this afternoon. He said:

"Admiral Sampson undoubtedly has orders to take Porto Rico, then the Spanish fleet would be completely at our mercy, and we could bide our time before we struck home. Spain would have no base of operations nearer than the Canaries."

M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Quadrennial Conference—Bishop Keener Tenders His Resignation—Church Statistics—Routine Proceedings.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, May 5.—At the quadrennial session of the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South, which began this morning, the features were the address of the bishops and the request of Bishop John C. Keener, of New Orleans, the senior bishop, to be relieved of his duties. Bishop Keener called the Conference to order. The opening exercises followed.

The Rev. Dr. J. J. Tigert, of Nashville was elected secretary.

Routine business was transacted and Bishop Keener was succeeded as chairman by Bishop Wilson, of Baltimore.

The address of the bishops was read by Bishop Hargrove, of Nashville, and then came the surprise of the day in the request of Bishop Keener to be relieved of his duties.

Bishop Keener said in part: "The hour has come for me to speak of matters personal to myself. I have had the honor of being an itinerant minister for fifty-six years and for half of that time have been one of your general superintendents. My age and infirmities demand some relief, both for myself and the Church, and I respectfully refer the matter of my future services to your goodly judgment."

Bishop Keener's voice broke a number of times and members of the Conference were in tears. Bishop Galloway responded. He paid a high tribute to the retiring bishop on behalf of his colleagues. The resignation was referred to the Committee on Episcopacy.

In the address of the Bishops, the death of Bishop Atticus G. Haywood was mentioned, and this recommendation was made as to the election of additional members of the Episcopacy: "We think under all the conditions that the work of administration can be efficiently done for the next quadrennium by the election of two additional Bishops at this session of the conferences."

The statistical tables show the net increase of itinerant preachers for the four years to be 502, and members 123,221. The present number of itinerant preachers is 5,989, local preachers, 5,685; total, 11,674. The total number of members is 1,478,431. The value of the church property is $35,000,000, an increase in four years of $2,000,000.

A dispatch from Kingston, Jamaica, says that in anticipation of an invasion, the Spanish troops are concentrating in the seaports of Cuba and have abandoned the interior to the insurgents.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR POSTOFFICES.

Important Amendments to the Bill Pending in the Senate Adopted.

REDUCES MAIL DELIVERIES.

Prevents Star Route Contractors Subletting Contracts—Important War Measure—To Supply Cubans Arms and War Munitions.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—During almost the entire session to-day, the Senate had under consideration the Postoffice appropriation bill. The measure carries $99,224,300, being very much the heaviest of all the appropriation bills. The most important action taken upon the measure was the adoption of an amendment offered by Mr. Tillman, South Carolina, reducing the number of deliveries of mail in all cities of the country to a number not exceeding four each day. The amendment was sharply antagonized as a blow to business interests in the large cities, but the feeling of the Senate was such, that, despite the vigorous opposition it prevailed by a decisive majority.

A lively debate was precipitated by an amendment of the committee striking out the appropriation of $300,000 for rural free delivery. The proposition was discussed for nearly two hours, Mr. Chandler, New Hampshire, and Mr. Butler, North Carolina, leading the fighting in favor of rural delivery. By the close vote of 25 to 22, however, the committee was sustained and the bill now carries no appropriation for such delivery.

An important amendment to the bill was one which will prevent star route contractors from sub-letting their contracts. In order to get their money they must be able to swear that they performed the service themselves. The bill was laid aside until to-morrow.

Before adjournment the Senate passed an important war measure authorizing the President and general officers of the army to supply the Cuban insurgents with arms and munitions of war and empowering officers of the army serving in Cuba to supply the needy inhabitants of the island with medicines and subsistence.

The Senate at 5.25 o'clock P. M. went into executive session, and shortly afterward adjourned.

House of Representatives.

The House disposed of two important measures. The Alaskan Land bill, extending the homestead laws to and providing for certain railway rights of way in the district of Alaska, as amended by the Senate and agreed upon in conference, was passed. The Labor Arbitration measure, providing for the arbitration of labor disputes between employes and certain common carriers, a bill which had received very wide endorsement by labor organizations throughout the country, received the approval of the House.

The House adjourned until Monday.

PLANS FOR THE INVASION.

After Landing in Cuba It Is Likely That the Ninth Cavalry Will Make a Reconnoissance.

TAMPA, FLA., May 4.—It is stated today on excellent authority that one of the first movements after a landing of the United States forces in Cuba takes place and the base of operations is sufficiently fortified and protected will be a reconnoissance in force, in which the Ninth cavalry will be the chief factor.

This, of course, is in case the Spaniards do not make any determined resistance to the advance of the invading force, which is not considered probable.

The arrival of the transport Berkshire this morning at Port Tampa, and the expected arrival of the transport Decatur H. Miller, of the Merchants' and Miners' Line, to-night, will increase the number of steam transports now here to five, including the Olivette, the Comal and the Florida.

It was decided this morning that the intended departure of the Florida to-night with eight hundred Cubans under command of General Lacerete and General Sanguilly, who were to be taken to Cuba by order of Admiral Sampson, there to join the forces of General Gomez, should be postponed until to-morrow at least. This, it was believed, was in some way due to the determination of the government to move the United States troops immediately.

The steamer Olivette, which had been coaling all day, left Port Tampa late to-night under sealed orders. It is rumored that the Olivette goes to the fleet with a naval officer, who arrived to-night and who has an important message from Washington for Admiral Sampson.

TO WAYLAY ALFONSO XIII.

Spanish Transport Reported at Barbadoes With 1,100 Troops and $500,000 in Money.

NEW YORK, May 4.—A Washington dispatch to the Herald says: Spain's big transport ship the Alfonso XIII, conveying to Havana 1,000 soldiers, a large quantity of supplies and nearly half a million dollars, may soon be a prize of United States men-of-war.

This is the confident prediction of officials of the Navy Department and is based upon instructions given today to Rear Admiral Sampson, commander in chief of the North Atlantic squadron, informing him of the arrival of the enemy's transport at the Barbadoes and directing him to take immediate steps to effect her capture.

In pursuance of these instructions, it is believed that Rear-Admiral Sampson has dispatched several vessels to the Barbadoes to lie outside the three-mile limit and await the departure of the Spanish steamer. The British government, whose flag flies over the Barbadoes, will limit the length of the stay of the Alfonso XIII in the harbor to forty-eight hours, it is expected.

When the blockade of Cuba first began Rear-Admiral Sampson formed what he called a special service division for the express purpose of capturing the Alfonso XIII and such other supply ships as might be sent by Spain to Havana. This division consisted of the battleship Indiana, cruisers Marblehead and Detroit and the auxiliary cruisers Algonquin and Mangrove, all under command of Captain Henry Taylor, of the Indiana.

Instructions have been given to the American consul in the Barbadoes to report to the Department of State the time of the departure of the Spanish vessel.

The notion house of J. P. Yancy & Co., Richmond Va., filed a deed of assignment. The liabilities are put at about $48,000.

ENCOUNTER WITH SPANISH TROOPS.

An Expedition from Key West Landed On the Northern Coast of Cuba.

ATTACKED BY THE SPANISH.

The Gunboat Leyden Engaged in the Affair—Spanish Forces Repulsed and Communication Opened With Insurgents.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KEY WEST, FLA., May 5.—The government tug Leyden, Captain J. M. Angus, steamed into port this morning, and those on board told the following story of a desperate encounter with Spanish troops on the northern coast of Cuba:

The Leyden left here Monday afternoon, with a party of insurgents, under General Baldamore Acosta, and including five Cuban scouts, under the leadership of Captain J. H. Dorst, of the United States cavalry. The Leyden also carried a large quantity of arms and ammunition. The tug landed five men, with four boxes of ammunition and two horses, General Acosta also landed and penetrated to the interior, where he communicated with the forces of the insurgents. The Leyden lay-to outside until 5 o'clock in the morning, when observing a troop of Spanish infantry approaching, she put to sea and got safely away. The same night she proceeded to Mantanzas and Tuesday afternoon landed another small party near there. Fearing attack by the Spaniards, she looked for the monitors Terror and Amphitrite, which are on the blockade in that vicinity, but being unable to locate them, the Leyden returned to the original landing place, reaching there early yesterday morning. Here she was met by Acosta and about 200 Cubans, half of whom were armed with rifles. They united with the men on the tug and an attempt was made to land the remaining arms and men, when troop of 200 of the Villa Vicea battalion swooped down on them and a fierce encounter of a half hour's duration followed. The Cubans finally repulsed the enemy, driving them into the woods. During this engagement several bullets went through the Leyden's smokestack, but no one was injured. The plucky little tug then went in search of the flagship, found her lying near Havana, and reported the story. Rear Admiral Sampson sent the gunboat Wilmington back with the Leyden. The two vessels reached the scene of the landing yesterday afternoon and found the Spanish cavalry in waiting to welcome another attempted invasion. The Wilmington lost no time in preliminaries, but promptly opened fire on a number of small houses marking the entry to the place. The gunboat fired four shots, which immediately drove back the Spaniards, and Capt. Dorst, with the ammunition, landed safely last night the Leyden returning here.

News reached here to-day of the arrival at Havana yesterday of the British cruiser Talbot, to take off British subjects who desire to leave the city. The Talbot was held up by the blockading vessels, but asked permission of the flagship to go in, which Rear Admiral Sampson readily granted. Admiral Sir John Richardson, commanding the British West Indian naval station, was on board the Talbot.

The Britishers had not heard the news of the Manila victory, and when they learned it they heartily congratulated Admiral Sampson and the other officers of the fleet.

Further information from the besieged island is to the effect that Gen. Blanco is urging the provisional authorities in every locality to stir up the patriotism of the people, which is said to be rapidly waning under the influence of hunger and disease.

The steamer Olivette will reach here to-night, but will not be permitted to enter the inner harbor, owing to the new port regulations governing the movement of vessels here during the war. Commodore Watson is a passenger on the Olivette.

A naval officer of high rank told the correspondent of the Associated Press to-night that the division of Admiral Sampson's squadron, already indicated from Washington, will in all probability go into effect forthwith. Commodore Watson will raise his flag on the cruiser Cincinnati, and his command will include other cruisers and gunboats. Commodore Remey, who will command the other division of the fleet, Rear Admiral Sampson being commander of both divisions, is expected here in a few days.

The conditions of the Havana blockade remain unchanged, the line being rigidly kept by the Montgomery and other cruisers under Captain Converse, who is still in temporary command.

The censorship of dispatches here continues very strict.

Captain Lyons, of the gunboat Dolphin, which has been cruising for eleven days along the western coast of Cuba, says there is great activity on shore throughout that section, and especially in Bahia Honda. Groups of Spaniards can be seen working on improvised fortifications of all kinds. Earthworks have been thrown up all along the coast, and apparent preparations against invasion are being made.

Spanish Ships off Barbadoes.

NEW YORK, May 5.—A Key West special to the Evening Post, dated today, says:

Four Spanish warships are reported to be off Barbadoes, prepared to intercept the battleship Oregon. A naval battle is expected.

The prize court to-day is sitting on the case of the Panama. District Attorney Stripling says that there is no doubt about the Catalina and Panama being condemned.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BOSTON, May 5.—The following telegram, received by F. T. Viles, of Boston, from a friend in Singapore, was read at the banquet of the Electric Club to-night:

"Singapore, May 5.—Reliable information has been received here, corroborating the news of Dewey's victory at Manila, and that he is now executing the duties of Governor-General there."

NO REPORT FROM ADMIRAL DEWEY.

But No Fears Are Entertained as to His Ability to Maintain His Position.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON'S FLEET.

News Expected from His Squadron Very Soon That Will be Almost as Important as That Received from the Philippines.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Secretary Long said at the close of office hours to-day that up to that time he had received no word from Commodore Dewey. He added, however, that he felt no apprehension over this lack of news, because in the first place reports were not expected with the cable from Manila cut, and furthermore, no fears were entertained as to Commodore Dewey's ability to maintain his position. There was no doubt, the Secretary said, that Commodore Dewey's fleet had annihilated the Spanish fleet, and with this much accomplished, Dewey was master of the situation at Manila.

Relief Measures.

The department is taking steps to render effective aid to the Commodore in the matter of supplies, and constructor William L. Clapp, now at San Francisco, is to go out at once to repair the damages sustained in the battle of Manila. Preparations for a suitable convoy for the supply ships was also indicated by the choice of a commander and officers for the cruiser Charleston, now at Mare Island. It is recalled at the Navy Department in this connection that having received the surrender of Manila, the Commodore would be able to secure any quantity of labor, and of such material as a maritime city like Manila affords for the repair of his ships. He, also, would be able to place his wounded in some one of the Manila hospitals or other public buildings.

Admiral Sampson's Fleet.

No news could be learned at the Navy Department relative to the movements of Admiral Sampson's ironclads, but from the confident tone of the few officials who are acquainted with the policy of the department, they are expecting to hear very soon of news from his squadron almost as interesting and important as that received from the Philippines.

A high officer of the administration to-day almost demolished the theory that Admiral Sampson was going to succor the Oregon now on her way from Brazil to join the North Atlantic squadron. He declared that the Navy Department was under no apprehension about the Oregon for the reason that it did not consider that the Spanish Admiral of the Cape Verde squadron would be willing to risk a combat with the Oregon, even with the great odds in his favor, as even if overwhelmed in the end, the Oregon certainly would destroy one of the Spanish ships and perhaps two, and the Spaniards could not afford to exchange pawns at this stage of the war. That left open as possible points of operation for Sampson either Porto Rico or some port on the Cuban coast, but just which theory is to be accepted is not even hinted at by the department officials.

Brazil Neutral.

Notice came to the State Department to-day that the Brazil government had declared neutrality. There is now no cause to regret the action on the part of Brazil, for, however, beneficial the delay has been to the United States in getting its warships safely along the Brazilian coast, the issue of the proclamation just now is likely to be still more beneficial in closing Brazilian ports to the Spanish flying squadron if it should be headed in that direction. It may be noted, however, that while the first reports were received with little credit, the advices coming to the Navy Department to-day, though not conclusive, inclined the officers to the belief that the Spanish flying squadron really has turned back from Cape Verde to consolidate with the home squadron at Cadiz.

The Navy Department will ship 300,000 pounds of powder to Commodore Dewey to add to the stock he now has left. This, with the large number of eight-inch armor piercing projectiles, shells, and 6-inch and 5-inch rifle balls, will make the shipment of ammunition a very large one. The powder and shot together will give 500 rounds for the big guns, and several thousand rounds for the rapid-fire rifles.

The Seizure of Porto Rico.

There was many conferences between the President and the Senators and Representatives to-day. The first-comer was Senator Burrows, of Michigan, who presented some friends to the President. As he left him he said: "Everything is moving along smoothly and well. What we want now is Porto Rico. We ought to have that to-morrow."

"Will it be as soon as that, Senator?" "Yes," was the reply, "probably in a day or two."

"While refraining from saying what transpired during his brief interview with the President, his statement that the seizure of Porto Rico is expected to be effected in a day or two, it was thought by his hearers to be significant, having been made immediately after the Senator left the President, though he would not say the President had given him any information.

"By Hook or Crook."

In old times the poor of a manor were permitted to obtain as fuel the dead wood from the surrounding woodland. The dead twigs and branches which were beyond their reach they were allowed to lop off with a hook or a crook.

There is a document among the records of the town of Bodmin which gives the right to the burgesses of the town, under the concession of the prior of Bodmin, "to bear and carry away on their backs and in no other way the lop, crop, hoop, crook and bag wood in the prior's wood of Dunmeer."

Another part of this paper mentions this as "a right with hook and crook to lop, crop and carry away fuel, etc., in the same wood."

The date of this record is 1525.—New York World.

DISTURBANCES IN SPANISH PROVINCES

The Queen Regent Has Made All Preparations for Flight from Madrid.

WILL TAKE REFUGE IN VIENNA

Spanish Warships to Drive Dewey's Ships from Manila and Then Bombard Californian Towns—Cadiz Fleet Short of Ammunition.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MADRID, May 5, 8 A. M.—The disturbances caused by the high price and scarcity of food continue in the Spanish provinces. There have been frequent conflicts between the rioters and the civil guards and looting and shooting are reported from various points.

At Barcelona this afternoon there was a renewed run on the bank, the holders of notes demanding silver.

10 A. M.—A mob of about eight thousand striking miners has made a tumultuous demonstration at Murcia, capital of the province of that name, thirty miles from the port of Carthagena. They attempted to set fire to the railroad depot and other buildings and then began a movement toward Carthagena. A strong force of troops, however, prevented the rioters from moving on the port.

A number of men were wounded. Disturbances are also threatened at Carthagena, where martial law has been proclaimed. Similar scenes have occurred at Oviedo and Leon, and at a number of other towns where factory hands have struck work. The strikers are parading the streets, demanding bread and stoning houses. The steps taken by the authorities have resulted in the restoration of peace at Malaga, where the British steam yacht Lady of Clemell was recently stoned and driven out of the harbor. It appears that the Malaga mob thought she was an American vessel.

2 P. M.—Considerable anxiety is expressed here as to the fate of Porto Rico. It is feared that Rear Admiral Sampson's squadron has gone to seize San Juan, the capital of that colony, and the Spanish coal supplies at that port.

Admiral Camara, who is to take command to-morrow of the Spanish reserve squadron at Cadiz, will hoist his flag on board the battleship Pelayo. His appointment has caused much satisfaction among the naval men of Spain.

Rioting continues at the seaport town of Gijon, province of Oviedo, where yesterday the fishermen and the tobacco girls sacked several bakeries and burned the octnoi offices.

3 P. M.—At a cabinet council today, over which the Queen Regent presided, the Premier, Senor Sagasta, explained the war situation and announced the safe arrival at Porto Rico of the Spanish Trans-Atlantic Company steamer Alfonso XIII, having on board, it is said, reinforcements of troops and a very valuable cargo, including ammunition and supplies.

The Premier also announced the opening of the Cuban parliament, and the Queen Regent signed the War Resources bill. The cabinet afterwards had another meeting and deliberated upon the financial situation and the measures taken and contemplated to preserve public order in the localities where disturbances have occurred.

8 P. M.—The debate on the government's policy was resumed in the Congress to-day, the sitting being mainly occupied with the continuation of Senator Romerey Robledo's speech. He severely criticised the government for its lack of foresight and after putting various questions to members of the Cabinet as to the government's plans, he announced that he would ask the Cortes to vote an income tax.

LONDON, May 6.—A dispatch from Vienna says telegrams from the Austrian ambassador at Madrid indicate that the Queen Regent is only waiting a suitable moment to quit Spain without injuring the King's interest.

LONDON, May 6.—The Daily Mail's Paris correspondent hears on indisputable authority that five Spanish ships, including the Pelayo and Alfonso XIII, are not yet supplied with ammunition.

The correspondent adds that want of ammunition for the Cadiz fleet caused delay in the sailing of the Cape Verde fleet, and will probably compel the latter to return to Cadiz.

MADRID, May 5.—In the Cortes today the Minister of Marine declined to give the whereabouts of the Cape de Verde squadron.

MADRID, VIA PARIS, May 5.—Cuban and Portorican authorities cable there is no need to fear the landing of American troops.

It is alleged that two iron-clads, two cruisers and three transports are about to leave Cadiz to drive American ships from Manila and then bombard Californian ports.

ADVICES FROM HAVANA.

The Autonomous Parliament Opened by Blanco—Arrival of a British Steamer. French Steamer in Sight.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

HAVANA, May 5.—(Delayed in transmission.)—With great ceremony the first congress of Cuba elected under the autonomous form of government was formally opened to-day by Captain General Blanco. Every effort was made by the Spanish officials to give brilliancy to the occasion. There was a procession, an imposing military display, the streets were decorated with flags and banners and the Captain General made what was intended to be an impressive speech, in the course of which he said that if the declarations of the United States had been sincere its guns to-day ought to be saluting the first Cuban parliament instead of threatening the lives of its members.

This morning at about 8 o'clock four American vessels passed in front of Havana.

The British steamer Strathdee, Capt. Currie, entered the Isabella harbor and was ordered to return to Progesso. Some days ago the American fleet instructed her owners that she would be returned.

It is reported here that the British gunboat Alert is at Santiago de Cuba.

A meeting held at the city hall in Union de Reyes adopted a resolution, the substance of which was sent to Senor Calvez, president of the council of the secretaries, and to President McKinley, protesting against "the proposals to impose upon the island a government contrary to its aspirations."

The French steamer La Fayette has been all the evening in sight of Havana, and it is believed that she will enter the harbor to-morrow morning.

A terrible story of cannabalism is reported from New Guinea. Fourteen escaped prisoners from Mamana attacked a friendly village, killing and eating eighteen men.

THE WAR REVENUE BILL.

Democrats Will Offer an Amendment to Tax Corporations—Urge Coinage of Silver and Issue of Greenbacks.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Democratic members of the Finance committee held a conference late this afternoon and agreed upon an amendment they will offer to the War Revenue bill imposing a tax of one per cent. upon the revenues of certain corporations, including railroad express, sleeping car, telegraph and telephone companies. This probably is the only addition they will sugrest to the revenue portion of the bill, but it is probable that they will also urge the coinage of the silver seignorage in the treasury and the issuance of at least $150,000,000 in greenbacks. These latter two propositions have not been agreed upon, but they have been discussed sufficiently to warrant the prediction that they will be incorporated in the Democratic substitute for the bond feature of the bill. The seignorage amounts to about $42,000,000 and the intention is to authorize the issuance of certificates for it, so as to secure immediate money and not wait upon the coinage of the silver. These certificates, with the greenbacks, would give $192,000,000 of immediate cash, and the Democrats think this would be sufficient for the immediate wants of the government. They believe that the tax they propose on corporations would increase the regular revenues to the extent of about $50,000,000 annually.

The Republican members of the committee to-day considered the advisability of a tax upon the transfer of stocks and bonds, and it is probable that they will propose such an amendment, as it is believed that incorporated in the bill it would go far toward reconciling Senator Wolcott to the measure.

The full committee will meet again to-morrow.

Mayor's Court Docket.

There were seven cases on the docket in Mayor Wright's court yesterday as follows: Geo. Bowen, drunkenness, paid costs; Haman Blocker, disorderly conduct, continued until to-day; John Walker, drunk and disorderly, $20 fine or 30 days in jail; J. W. Swann, drunk and disorderly, $2.50 fine and costs; J. W. Adams, drunk and disorderly, discharged; W. R. Bishop, sleeping on the street, made to pay the costs and Emma Thompson, drunk and disorderly, 15 days imprisonment.

A Vienna dispatch says: Apartments have been reserved at a hotel for the Queen Regent of Spain in case she arrives before apartments have been prepared for her in her brother's palace.
